

Please do not weaken New Jersey's Do Not Call/Telephone Consumer Protection Act. The fact that it is stricter than the Federal law is good, since it give us as citizens additional protection against the harassment of unwanted marketing calls.

Allowing marketers to call individuals with whom they have done business in the last 18 months, even if those individuals have put themselves on the Do Not Call list, is wrong. Given the wide range of products that some marketers sell/represent, it could open a Pandora's box of calls where a single purchase would justify telemarketing calls on a whole range of items which that telemarketer sells/represents.
